Anti-tracking Protection Technology

"The ability for a user's activity on one site to be linked with their activity on another site without their knowledge or explicit consent."

- The design and Implementation of The Tor Browser